WHOLE 1ST ARMY ON EAST BANK

MAR 12 1945

LONDON, March 12 (INS)—The Berlin radio today said that virtually all of the United States First Army had crossed the Rhine in the Remagen area and reiterated a previous admission that the bridgehead was 12 miles wide and two and one-half miles deep. (A front dispatch from the Allied side said the American penetration was three miles deep.) (Other details on Page 2.)

Extend Bridgehead, Mop Up West Bank

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS, March 12 (AP)—First Army attacks bulged the three-mile deep Rhine bridgehead several hundred yards farther over night along a river strip which the Germans said was 12 1-2 miles long. Lt. Gen. Hodges had thrown so many men, cannon and tanks into the rugged Westerwald east of Remagen that nothing less than a major German counterattack could budge his Americans—and there was no indication the Nazis would be able to organize such a force from the ashes of their defeat west of the Rhine.

The dashing U. S. Third Army, just south, eliminated all the Germans west of the Rhine and Moselle except for two small pockets.

Lt. Gen. Patton's tank and foot troops captured 14 towns and won domination of all the west bank of the Moselle except a 15-mile stretch between Cochem and Erden.

Coblenz was besieged.

Some enemy stragglers were dragged from a two-mile square pocket in a wood midway in the 16 miles between Mayen and the Rhine. Others were near the Moselle, over which some were filtering into the Saar district.

At least eight towns of inner Germany east of the Rhine were under the American flag.

The Germans peppered our Rhine bridgehead with light artillery fire during the night, but made no counter-attack.

"The surprise of the crossing was so complete that the Germans have been unable in five days to muster a counter-attack in any strength," Correspondent Don Whitehead reported from First Army headquarters.

British, Canadian and American Ninth Army troops to the north kept the Germans on tenterhooks by maintaining 40-mile smoke screens along the lower Rhine. The enemy said a crossing attempt was imminent between Emmerich and Wesel, where the last enemy parachute troops were driven across the river.

American advances into the rolling green hills east of the Rhine won more high ground from which German artillery had failed to knock out the Ludendorff bridge. The captured towns were in an arc five miles north, four south and three east of Erpel—at the east end of the bridge across from Remagen.

A street battle progressed in picturesque Honnef, five miles north of Remagen along the east bank road toward Cologne and the Ruhr. Other First Army troops were advancing south along the river road beyond Linz on the Loreili rocky stretch of the Rhine gorge and inland beyond Bruchhausen and Ohlenburg into the Westerwald back rock hills.

Though the Third Army besieged Coblenz, it still had to cross the mouth of the Moselle river before fighting into the main part of the city. Across the Rhine from Coblenz the sullen rock fortress of Ehrenbreitstein provided the enemy a formidable defense bastion. Ehrenbreitstein is Germany's Gibraltar of the Rhine.

A patchy fog covered the whole western front at dawn but appeared to be lifting in places by midmorning.

The Germans reported more Rhine crossings established north and south of Rhein-Breitbach in the bridgehead south of Honnef.

Another Berlin broadcast asserted the Nazis recaptured "many villages" in the southernmost section of the Rhine bridgehead. No town name was given.

"The battle in the bridgehead is increasing in ferocity hour by hour and both sides are flinging in strong forces," the enemy radio said "Both sides are out to force a decision. The Germans yesterday succeeded in preventing the Americans from widening the bridgehead. American tank formations were smashed."

"Our next step will be a crossing the Rhine," Associated Press correspondent Ned Nordness reported from the Wesel area. "When or where this will occur cannot be disclosed but mighty preparations are in progress for a final, throttling blow."

WESTERN FRONT—Yanks today widened their bridgehead across the Rhine at Remagen, where arrows indicate new First Army drives. Trans-Rhine towns now captured include Rheinbreitbach, Bruchhausen, Ohlenberg, Linz and Daltenberg—as U. S. might thunders forward. AP Wirephoto Map

Riots in Munich

NEW YORK, March 12 (INS — The Stockholms - Tidningen said today as late as last night riots and street fighting were going on in Munich and that a "marked revolutionary spirit reigned in the city."

German tanks were driving through the streets in an effort to quell disturbances, said the unconfirmed dispatch as reported to the OWI.

"Railway traffic, post and telegraph no longer function," it added.

The riots began early yesterday as Germany marked "heroes day," the paper reported.

Nagoya In Flames After Raid

By Associated Press

Tank-led American invasion forces swept aside meager Japanese resistance in the southwestern corner of the Philippines today as 300 Superfortresses poured incendiaries on Nagoya, their second midnight raid on Japan in 48 hours.

Veteran 41st Division infantrymen landed on Mindanao island Saturday, captured an airstrip in half an hour, and overran four villages near Zamboanga.

Tokyo radio reported the Yanks also invaded Basilan island.

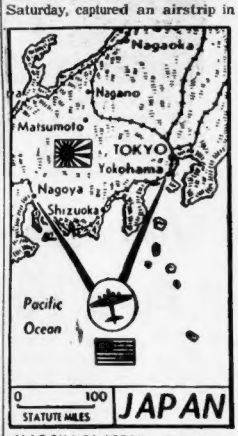
Approximately five square miles of Nagoya, Japan's third largest city, were turned into a blazing inferno by 2000 tons of incendiaries in the three-hour raid.

The Japanese high command admitted that fires were still raging in the highly inflammable business section 10 hours later.

Nagoya, third largest city in Japan, produces nearly half of the nation's war planes.

Forty India-based Superforts hit Singapore naval base today in their second raid in 48 hours and Marines, in the final phase of their Iwo Jima campaign went after Japanese trapped on the northern end of the island with tanks, flame throwers and demolition charges. The Japs fought back bitterly.

On Zamboanga, Gen. MacArthur said, the Japanese garrison had fled to the hills, giving MacArthur control of the entire western coastline of the Philippines, intensifying the south China Sea blackade. Adm. Nimitz commented in San Francisco that the Japs soon won't be able to operate to their possessions in the Dutch East Indies.



NAGOYA BLASTED—Continuing their destruction of the Japanese homeland, more than 300 B-29s spread flaming havoc over Nagoya, great aircraft center, while Tokyo continues to burn following Saturday's raid of the capital. Some 2000 tons of incendiaries were dropped over Nagoya.

Reds to Skip Berlin?

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—The Russians were reported carrying out a large-scale regrouping of armies today preparatory to another massive shove on the Berlin front aimed at linking up with Allied armies somewhere in the Elbe valley in the heart of Germany.

Moscow dispatches said the Russians might by-pass Berlin as a knot of resistance in the drive to cut Germany in two and that the Elbe, which slices diagonally across Germany from Prague, Czechoslovakia, to Hamburg on the North sea, might be as important in Soviet plans for future operations as the Vistula and Oder.

Moscok dispatches hinted large formations of Marshal Rokossovsky's Second White Russian Army were shifted to the Oder from Pomeranian and Polish fronts to share the Oder battleline with Marshal Zhukov's First White Russians.

Rokossovsky shortened his front vastly by a hard-drjving offensive in Pomerania which reduced the German-held pocket along the Baltic east of the Oder to a 35-by-20-mile area around Danzig and Gdynia. He was speeding his assault on these two ports.

The Germans said today the Russians were broadening attacks east of Berlin. Four rifle divisions, with tank support, attacked repeatedly on a broad front between Order river fortresses of Kuestrin and Frankfurt, the German radio said.

The Germans claimed they had smashed back over the Warthe river into Kuestrin, 40 miles east of Berlin. The Germans say a furious battle has raged there for seven days.

Berlin denied that the Russians had been able to gain a foothold in Altdamm, Stettin suburb.

U. S. Air Armada Aids Baltic Reds

By HENRY B. JAMESON

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—A mighty armada of more than 2100 American warplanes slashed a wide path across northern Germany today with the main force of 650 bombers blasting military and naval installations on the Baltic coast in direct support of the Russian armies.

The German radio declared the Pomeranian capital of Stettin and the Nazi U-boat and naval base at Swifemuende, 35 miles northeast of Stettin, were targets.

An RAF spokesman credited Allied bombers based in Britain with laying waste to more than 450 square miles of the Ruhr.

The German radio said the 200-mile long train of bombers which flew 600 miles across northern Germany also bombed the Baltic U-boat base of Swinemuende.

The German alarm system indicated other widespread attacks.

Rome dispatches said the Brenner rail line into Italy had been closed for 44 days.

Allied-Nazi Convoy Battle Off Norway

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—The Swedish radio said today that a "convoy battle," presumably between German ships and Allied aircraft, occurred last night in the Skagerrak, separating Norway and Denmark.

Yanks' Italian Drive Slowed

ROME, March 12 (AP)—The Fifth Army push toward the German stronghold of Vergato, southwest of Bologna, slowed today as Allied headquarters reported increased German resistance along the Fifth's entire front.

Jap Fleet Repaired Again, Says Nimitz

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12 (AP)—The Japanese imperial fleet, repairing battle damage suffered in recent actions, is ready for combat again, Adm. Nimitz disclosed here.

But Adm. Nimitz emphasized: "The Japanese fleet is now so inferior to the United States fleet it must choose its time to come out."

Mandalay Moat Holds Off British

CALCUTTA, India, March 12 (AP)—Allied artillery has smashed three breaches in the walls of Ft. Dufferin in the heart of Mandalay but the 75-yard wide moat so far has proved an effective barrier to the entry of British soldiers.

Lake's 1st Story From the Rhine

By AUSTEN LAKE

ON THE BANKS OF THE RHINE — For three days this military hitch-hiker was marooned in the Rhineland, living on the thin hospitality of the 4th Armored Division's food units, and lodging was where one found it.

There was no means of transmitting news copy to the press base 100 miles back, for we were at the tip of a long armored finger. Behind us roads were boiling with troops and supplies, so I just thumbed my way to spots that promised the most sensation.

I had it. Indeed, during these last 72 hours I have seen the most appalling destruction, brute action and death since the Normandy breakthrough. Here, life, property and gentle home teachings have no value.

Ruin and slaughter are only mediums of exchange, so yesterday, before entering the large town of Weissenthurm, on the banks of the Rhine six miles west of Coblenz, I watched Capt. Adrien Tessier's tanks blast German supply column at zero range. It was the most soul-shocking scene of wreckage and slaughter I ever witnessed.

Tessier is a former Hathaway bakery salesman who lived at 91 Laurel Hill ave., Providence, R. I. At the moment he and his tank company were occupying a farm hamlet named Kettig, a scant two kilometers from Weissenthurm and overlooking the road that paralleled the Rhine.

TANK CREWS BUSY

It was a silent sylvan scene in the morning mists, like something painted on silk. The tank crews were busy with their housework, cleaning gun-bores, stacking ammo and adjusting gear. A line of infantry outposts lay in watery ditch and searched the distance through glasses.

Behind us German villagers moused meekly in their dooryards or peered from windows like mice from knotholes. I could see white surrender flags fluttering from the far away rooftops of Weissenthurm, where townsmen had hopefully hung out the submissive tokens but there were German combat units in that town.

Suddenly one of the infantry observers shouted, "German supply column coming out," and Tessier leveled his binoculars.

"Holy cow," he said, in the voice of a man who had just fallen heir to rich uncle's fortune, "clear those guns." He yelled needlessly, for the tank crews were already swivelling the nozzles of their 75s and estimating the range. One didn't need glasses to see a procession of German halftracks, horse-drawn wagons, laden trucks, troop carriers and a miscellany of smaller carts at 1200 meters.

Even the figures of Nazi soldiers were in a clear outline. What sort of military ignorance prompted this cavalcade to roll leisurely under the snouts of our drivers tried to wheel out of line.

AUSTEN LAKE
Famed Reporter on Nazi Front

guns, like so many clay targets in a shooting gallery, is for eternity to answer. The dead do not speak.

"Hold it," shouted Tessier, "let 'em spread out." As I watched, the column, oblivious of the perdition that lay a hog shout to their left, mooched slowly along till it stretched a quarter-mile from the town. Through glasses I could see a German staff car, with some officers bent over what looked like a map.

LET 'EM HAVE IT

"Work back from the head of the column with H dashes," shouted Tessier, with his arm aloft. "Now let 'em have it." And the gunners did. I have never seen nor heard anything so stunning to the senses. The din of our cannon and 50 calibers numbed my eardrums. To me, so recently come from the placid securities of civilian America, it didn't seem actual that these were men and animals and machinery that were disintegrating before my eyes at that short distance.

Shells burst along a line in incandescent flashes from which fragments and dark blobs sailed lazily as from puffs of smoke, like a lady's powder puff. Tracer bullets like orange balls whizzed along the line. The head of the column was hidden behind a milky veil. Completely stalled, the following vehicles could neither move forward nor retreat.

Horses broke from their traces and galloped wildly across fields, some dragging overturned wagons. Soldiers scuttled for any haphazard cover; trucks tumbled over an embankment as hysterical drivers tried to wheel out of line. Flames licked rosily from others, funneling smoke toward gray skies.

It was over in 10 minutes, though it seemed a small lifetime, and when Tessier waved his arms like a trainman flagging an engineer, and shouted, "Cease fire," the ensuing silence seemed an aching void.

NAZIS OPEN UP

"Get those tanks under cover," he shouted, "and roll 'em into town." And presently the ambulant monsters were clattering through the village lanes and seeking cover behind the stone houses, for already from across the Rhine, a few Nazi shells were whining like a crescendo of ripping cloth and explosive "wham" that brought a metallic taste to one's tongue.

A hole as large as a barrelhead appeared inside of a farmhouse; a shell ricocheted from the corner of a nice looking home and burrowed into a stone barn. From the embankment where we lay we could see the interior of a bedchamber throught the hole in the dwelling.

"Plenty of fresh sleeping air," said Tessier laconically.

"They won't have to open windows."

Three years ago, Tessier would

Waitress, Chef Aid 10 Flee Fire

One firemen was injured and a score of persons were driven to the street when a 2-alarm fire early today swept the two lower floors of the four-story business and apartment building at 76-78 Huntington ave., Back Bay, causing damage of $6000.

The injured fireman, Gilbert W. Jones, 50, of Westland ave., attached to Ladder 15, slipped on a hose while raising a ladder and fell on the safety lamp strapped to his back. He was treated at City Hospital for contusions and released.

The blaze originated in the rear of the Niles Oasis Cafe on the ground floor and spread through an air shaft to the second floor, where the dense smoke awakened Miss Christine Jensen, waitress.

She ran to the nearby apartment of Christopher Evans, the cafe chef, and aroused him. Both aided Patrolman John Ahearn and William Bradley of Station 16 in assisting 10 other tenants, including Kay Kerris, to the street.

House to Probe Army Hospitals

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—New investigations of Army hospitals and of the treatment of war prisoners, both American and Axis, will be started soon by the House military committee.

H. Ralph Burton, the committee's general counsel, said the committee also would investigate "the increasing tendency to place Communists or fellow travelers in key positions in the War Department, and the relaxation of restrictions giving Communists or fellow travelers commissions in the Army."

Hundreds of Army hospitals and related facilities, Burton said, will be visited to make "doubly sure" that sick and wounded soldiers are receiving the best possible care.

Somerville Man Held on 3 Charges

The case was continued to March 19, while Cambridge police searched for a man alleged to have been Silva's companion.

Silva was arrested Thursday morning by Patrolman Arthur J. McCarthy who testified he had come upon Silva and another man working on the engine of a truck in Prospect st., and that they had fled.

No one slapped the candy-lover on the back for several weeks.

Strike of 12,000 Ties Major Movie Studios

HOLLYWOOD, March 12 (AP)—Picket lines were established at entrances to motion picture studios this morning as a strike of 12,000 AFL union craftsmen over jurisdictional authority regarding set designers went into effect at all the major companies.

Herbert Sorrell, president of the conference of studio unions, which voted the strike, said the work stoppage would "tie those studios up in a knot, and the only one who can stop us is Uncle Sam himself."

Sorrell boasted that within two or three days, production of movies would be cut in half. Only studios not affected by the strike are Technicolor, where no set designers are at work, Walt Disney, Monogram and Producers Releasing Corporation.

The AFL painters Union Local 1421, a member of the conference of studio unions, has been designated by the War Labor Board as bargaining agent for the set designers, pending final decision by the NLRB, but the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employes also claims jurisdiction.

Asked if he anticipated government intervention, Sorrell said he thought not, "especially since the Montgomery Ward case wound up the way it did."

The executive committee of the Screen Actors' Guild was to meet later today to canvass the situation, but until the actors vote, guild members will have to decide individually whether they pass through picket lines, said Executive Secretary John Dales, Jr.

This same jurisdictional squabble last October caused a work stoppage for six days, involving 750 workers. Today's walkout overrides the request of the WLB to hold action in abeyance until further consideration is given the case this week in Washington.

A spokesman for the producers said they were powerless to prevent the strike. He said the fight between the two AFL unions was over the "set decorators' union that is made up of only 72 men, and it does not involve wages, hours, working conditions or any other matter within the power of the employer to give or withhold."

$15,000,000 Port Plan Studied

Boston and Massachusetts industrialists and Port of Boston officials today are studying a $15,000,000 plan to open Boston to the quadrupling of foreign commerce expected after the war.

The plan, prepared by the Massachusetts Committee on Port Development, would make the port a "gateway instead of a bottleneck," according to committee chairman Ralph E. Flanders.

A tabulation of shipping facilities indicates that accommodations for big ships have fallen from 35 ship berths before the war to 29.

Commercial enterprises now depending on the port will be forced to attempt to channel more than $20,000,000 of annual business through three up-to-date ship berths and six berths in varying conditions of decay and capability, unless the report is adopted, Flanders declared.

Japs Foiled Trying To Land at Fukien

CHUNGKING, March 12 (AP)—Chinese forces have frustrated a small-scale Japanese attempt to land on the coast of Fukien Province, about 40 miles south of Japanese-held Foochow.

The landing attempt was covered by two Japanese warships and probably represented an effort to expand the enemy's area around Foochow as a safeguard against a possible American landing.

Fire Chief James J. Evans said the fire was caused by a cigaret carelessly thrown from the roof of the shed by one of the boys.

The four juveniles were released to their parents

Japs Try 3 New Weapons: Rocket, Big Mortar, Bomb

By JOHN R. HENRY

IWO JIMA, March 12 (INS)—Japanese used three heavy weapons for the first time here.

The weapons were an eight-inch rocket, a giant 320-mm. mortar and a massive self-propelled rocket bomb.

A Marine intelligence officer pointed out they were indicative of a Japanese effort for economy in weapons. He explained that neither huge field guns nor the crews to handle them are necessary in the employment of the rockets and mortars. The self-propelled bomb—if effective—would be cheaper to use than aircraft bombing.

The rocket is fired from a projector—a sort of stove-pipe barrel about eight feet long and eight inches in diameter which stands on two 24-inch wheels. The contraption looks like an antiquated artillery piece. The missile is about 50 inches long.

The heavy mortar is unlike any mortar previously seen. The missile, weighing about 350 pounds, slides down the launching device so its tail fins are outside. An explosive charge inside the launching device sets the mortar off. It is called a "spigot" mortar.

The self-propelled bomb is a projectile weighing 150 pounds and is eight feet long. It has a warhead much like that on an aerial torpedo and tail fins and a rocket device at the end to propel it toward the target.

CIO Says Davis Can Prevent Textile Tieup

Prediction the strike vote called for by 50,000 New England CIO textile workers "probably" would be called off if William L. Davis, new stabilization director, certified pay scales approved by the War Labor Board was made today by Antonio England, New Bedford director of the Textile Workers Union of America.

Textile workers in 12 New England cities, voting without dissent, approved National President Emil Rieve's repudiation of the "no strike" pledge and empowered their officials to seek sanction for a strike vote under the Smith-Connally act yesterday.

"We took the vote, England declared today, "because the TWUA does not feel anyone should interfere with the decisions of the WLB.

"We were assured by President Roosevelt that in exchange for our no-strike pledge a war labor board would be established which would have the final say in disputes. We now realize the WLB no longer is authorized to make its own decisions."

The balloting came after former Stabilization Director Vinson refused approval of WLB decisions granting a 55-cent hourly minimum wage in the industry. Davis was WLB chairman at the time the minimum was approved.

Balloting in the election were textile workers in New Bedford—where the War Manpower Commission is trying to enforce a work draft in the industry—Chicopee, Danvers, Salem, Peabody, Fitchburg and Westfield; Manchester, Suncook and Nashua, N. H.; Providence, Pawtucket and West Warwick, R. I., and Augusta, Biddeford and Lewiston, Me.

N. H. Baby Gains After Blood Gift

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 12—Gradual improvement of 10-months-old Emily Bamford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bamford, Spruce st., for whom 300 persons volunteered blood, was reported by officials of the Elliot Hospital today.

Suffering from pneumonia, the child was prepared for a blood transfusion when it was discovered that no donors of the necessary kind of blood, a rare "type 40 R. H. negative factor," were available.

Friends and relatives of the family were notified and immediately volunteer donors began to appear.

Soldiers from the Grenier Field air base, veterans of the last war from the Henry J. Sweeney American Legion Post, shopmates of the child's father at the Anchor Manufacturing Co., and neighbors poured into the hospital in a steady stream.

Overwhelmed, the hospital closed the door behind the first 300 and hastily checked. Several volunteers were found to be of the correct type.

Diocese Center To Guide Boys

As a constructive and far-reaching project to combat juvenile delinquency, the Catholic archdiocese of Boston is completing plans to establish a Catholic Boys' Guidance Center, Abp. Cushing announced at a reception following observance of the fifth annual Communion Sunday of St. Vincent's Guild in North Cambridge.

"This center," Archbishop Cushing said, "will be established in the heart of Boston, and will be devoted to the aid and guidance of young boys, either through their parents or through the courts."

A similar guidance home for young girls, Abp. Cushing said, is also a future project of the archdiocese. He announced that a parish house in the Nantasket Beach area will henceforth be given over to children from St. Vincent's House, and from the Harrison ave. home.

Wings Puzzle In Girl Suicide

Wings of an Air Corps flier worn over her heart and a bundle of love letters tied with khaki-colored string, were mute evidence today of the blighted romance of 18-year-old Eileen E. Wischt of Church st., Marlboro, who leaped to her death from a seventh-floor window of the Hotel Touraine.

The grief-stricken girl took the fatal plunge after she had visited the Southern Mortuary and there identified the body of her 51-year-old fiance, Edward J. Long of Dartmouth st., who police said took his own life by poison Thursday.

In a suicide note left with a bell boy, along with the bundle of letters, the disillusioned girl had written:

"In case of death don't look for my parents because I haven't any. There is no insurance on me. All I ask is one thing; let my wings remain on my coat where he pinned them over my heart. Now that he is gone there is nothing left for me to live for."

The note indicated the man she loved was a member of the Air Corps, but police investigation proved otherwise. Stating the writer of the love letters to the girl was Long, police said he was married but had separated from his wife.

In a pocket of her coat police found a slip of paper on which was written: "Dr. Timothy Leary, Conn. 0317," the telephone number of the Southern Mortuary where on Friday she identified her fiance's body. At that time she told Dr. Leary that Long had planned to marry her.

Witnesses told police that the girl had walked through the crowded lobby of the hotel and taken an elevator to the seventh floor. There she went to a hall window, placed her pocketbook on a chair, climbed to the window ledge and plunged head-first to the street, 95 feet below.

Hundreds of Sunday strollers in Boylston st. were horrified spectators of the death leap. Hurrying to the girl's lifeless form they noted one hand seemingly clutching the wings sewn to her coat over the heart.

It was disclosed that Long was a former employe of the New Haven Railroad. Police said that last Thursday he slashed his wrists in a suicide attempt and when that failed he swallowed poison.

EILEEN F. WISCHT, 18
Love Prompts Hub Death Leap

What at first looked like a tragedy of war, took on the aspect of the wrecking of two lives due to broken homes as police began to question friends of the girl. There was no flier who had crashed on a battle-field leaving the inconsolable girl behind. The girl's father and mother are still alive but have been divorced.

The girl's father, Michael Wischt is in the Seabees and stationed in California. Her mother, Mrs. Helen Burgess, of Tremont st., Boston, has married again. She has a sister, Pauline, 20, of Brockton. For a time after her parents separated the girl lived with Edwin C. Jacobs, of Marlboro, her uncle, now living on Dean st., Dorchester.

Guerrilla U-Boats Are Now on Prowl With New Devices

By HENRY B. JAMESON

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—German submarines which used to hunt in packs have now turned to guarrilla warfare with the aid of various new devices, including the now famous "schnorkel" and man-carrying kites for observation, which help reduce the U-boat's vulnerability from air attacks.

The schnorkel ventilation apparatus is designed to obviate the need for the submarine to surface every 24 hours to charge its batteries.

The schnorkel is a pipe about 18 inches in diameter, enclosing inlet and outlet pipes, with valves that prevent water going down.

This enables the submarine to coast along slightly under the surface of the water and crash-dive several seconds faster if spotted from overhead.

The kite is for use in surface cruising. It is simply a chair supported by roto arms like a helicopter, but not power driven. The surface speed of the submarine rotates the blades and gives the kite the necessary lift.

A lookout man in the chair can be lifted to a height of 400 feet, maintaining communication with the U-boat by means of a telephone line. A combined parachute and dingy is carried in the kite in such a position that if the sub has to crash dive while the observer is "upstairs" he has only to pull a cord and jump.

Dewey Signs Racial Job Bill

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—With Gov. Dewey's signature, the Ives-Quinn bill making it a jailable offense to exercise racial or religious discrimination in selecting workers becomes New York State law today.

The law empowers a five-member commission to receive complaints from a worker claiming he had been discriminated against by an employer, labor union or employment agency on the ground of race, religious belief or national origin.

The commission would try conciliation, and failing, is authorized to issue "cease and desist" orders, violation of which is punishable by a $500 fine or a year's imprisonment, or both. Commission findings would be subject to court review.

GI Bill Called Hidden Ball Trick

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The GI Bill of Rights was described today as a "hidden ball trick," of little value to veterans.

This characterization was offered by Patrick L. Carroll of West Depere, Wis., in a valedictory to 22 members of the first group of veterans of the present war to be trained as service officers for the disabled American veterans.

"The GI Bill," Carroll declared, "has two main provisions—the educational benefits and the loan provisions. How any veteran will be able to go to school on $50 a month with the present high cost of living is beyond my comprehension.

"What should have been the most important part of the bill is only hinted at. I refer to the mention of an adjusted compensation, more commonly known as a 'bonus.' "

8 RC Girls Serve In India, Burma

Eight Greater Boston girls, some with brothers fighting overseas and one whose brother is a prisoner of war in Germany, are serving as Red Cross clubmobile members in the India-Burma sector, General Chairman Phillips Ketchum of the 1945 Red Cross War Fund drive discolsed today.

They are: Mabel V. Bailey, West Springfield st., Boston; Margaret D. Dever, Story st., South Boston; Patricia Lunsford, Southbourne rd., Jamaica Plain; Mary C. Maloney, Jamaica st., Jamaica Plain; Eilzabeth Marshall, Mt. Vernon st., Boston; Edith Eilzabeth Wheater, Colbourne cres., Brookline; Helen M. Barnes, Revere st., West End, and Pauline Thompson, Tip Top st., Brighton.

Ketchum emphasized that in letters received by the families of these girls was a plea to Greater Boston citizens to support the Red Cross, especially in the far eastern war theater.

$10,000,000 Flood Victory Won in Ohio

PORTSMOUTH, O., March 12 (AP)—Portsmouth today had won its five-day "battle of the levee"—a $10,000,000 victory.

An estimated 9000 residents began moving back to their homes and business places as the flood-swollen Ohio river dropped to 60-foot stage, two feet below the top of a section of the flood wall on which citizens and state guardsmen had hurled nearly half a million sandbags.

U. S. Ordnance Loss $500,000,000

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP)—Losses of ordnance equipment alone since D-Day in Europe have totaled more than $500,000,000, Col. John Slezak, chief of the Chicago Ordnance district, announced today.

This covers some 6200 tanks, 34,250 general purpose vehicles, 166,900 rifles and other small arms, and 23,000 mortars and machineguns.

Blind Collie Has Seeing-Eye Pal

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP)—Silver, a 5-year-old collie who is going blind, has her personal See-eye—an underslung dachshund.

Silver's owner, Michael von Motzeck, operator of a training kennel, discovered several months ago she was going blind. She huddled in her kennel and would not enter the exercise grounds.

So Motzeck chose Sascha, a 3-year-old female— whom he described as a "sort of brave little soul"—to keep Silvgr company and to act as her guide. A rope linked the two dogs and, with Sascha leading, Silver finally was coaxed up the ramps leading to the playground.

Now Motzeck reports the rope no longer is necessary, that Silver trustingly follows Sascha—and eats with a lusty appetite.

Reparations to Jews In Europe Proposed

Special Correspondent Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, March 12—European governments which enriched themselves at the expense of their Jewish populations while under Nazi domination should be forced to make reparations, asserted Dr. Nahum Goldmann, chairman of the executive committee of the World Jewish Congress.

Speaking before 1500 delegates to the annual convention of the Ass'n of Fraternal and Benevolent organizations, an American Jewish congress affiliate here, Dr. Goldman charged that the liberated governments were morally responsible for the losses sustained by the Jews whom they permitted to be plundered.

The holocaust of war, Dr. Goldman told the association, representing 350 Greater New York groups of Jews of European descent, has left the surviving Jews on the continent without funds.

It has also created a problem which, he warned, was as much a political one as it was one of relief.

"I shudder to think of what would happen if the countries of Europe tried to solve what is logically a reparations and indemnifications problems by the establishment of soup kitchens for many years to come, he said.

"To view it as a purely Jewish relief problem is ridiculous, for there is not enough money among the charity-giving Jewry of the world to sustain the Jews in Europe with the minutest adequacy."

Dr. Goldman suggested as one solution restoration of seized property. To accomplish this, he went on, "we as Jews need to make strong international representations to retrieve what has been brutally taken away."

Wage Ceiling Rise Demanded by CIO

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—The CIO executive board demanded immediate revision of the Little Steel formula and establishment of a minimum wage of 65 cents an hour.

In a resolution adopted at the second of three-day closed meetings, the board also reaffirmed its no-strike pledge, called upon President Roosevelt to convene a tripartite conference of industry, labor and government to formulate a policy to meet problems resulting from reconversion, and asked return to the War Labor Board of its authority to adjust wages by eliminating inequities.

The resolution will be presented to the President by Philip Murray, CIO head, and five affiliated union presidents, it was announced.

Oratory Tests Start In Schools, Colleges

Intramural tests in 50 Boston public and parochial high schools and 12 Greater Boston colleges were to start today to determine candidates for the local elimination contest in the William Randolph Hearst National Oratorical Contest on "James Monroe and the Monroe Doctrine" to be held April 10 in Faneuil Hall.

First to report the winner of a school test was Notre Dame Academy in Roxbury. She is Miss Agnes Wellings, 15, of Draper st., Dorchester, who was an entrant in a similar Hearst oratorical contest last year.

The names of all winners in the high school and college intramural tests must be submitted by April 3 to the Oratorical Editor, 5 Winthrop Sq., Boston. The contest, which is being held simultaneously in 13 key cities throughout the nation, is sponsored locally by the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser.

The contest honors the vision and statesmanship of James Monroe, great fifth president of the United States, and his contribution to the security of the North and South American continents.

Winners in the local elimination contest at Faneuil Hall will be eligible to compete for prizes totaling $25,000 in War Bonds. The local winners will participate in the eastern zone contests in New York, and zone winners are eligible for the national finals.

Local prizes in War Bonds, equally provided for high school and college groups, are first $250, second $100, third $75, fourth $50, fifth $25. National prizes are first $1000, $100 to all runners-up in the national finals, $50 to qualifiers in the eastern zone finals and $50 to each student qualifying in the local finals.

Urges MacArthur Trip to Capital

WASHINGTON, March 12 (INS) Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio, proposed today Gen. MacArthur be called to Washington to sit in on plans for the final destruction of Japan.

"We all are vitally interested in methods to be pursued in completing the Japanese war," said Taft. "Adm. Nimitz returned to Washington and it seems to me MacArthur should be brought back."

Sen. Johnson (D.) of Colorado expressed belief MacArthur would be denied the grand command in the war against Japan but would be utilized to clean up island areas.

have been taking wholesale orders for cakes and pastry and giving grocers sales talks on the latest line of Hathaway meringue pies. This morning Weissenthurm, an industrial town of some 10,000, was invested, to the vast relief of local inhabitants and the inevitable mixture of Russian, Polish and French slave laborers.

PICK UP FOE DEAD

Tessier jeeped me out to the scene of the German columns' carnage. It beggars description. An American tank dozer with a huge steel scoop on its prow was shoving a tangle of buses and trucks over an embankment, after the fashion of a snowplow. A detail of Polish laborers was picking up the cadavers of German soldiers, for burial. Doughboys were at the macabre mercy task of shooting more than a score of wounded horses; the twisted bodies of more than 50 others lay among the litter. German townfolks already were busily scavenging whatever material they could find—soldiers' boots, mess utensils, tools and a wagonload of dark bread. They moved philosophically over a road made greasy with the bloody sorting and selecting, then trundling the stuff off in handcarts.

Necessity knows no patriotism. I rode into Weissenthurm in the turret of a light tank between lanes of age-old houses, where women and children peered wonderingly from windows festooned with bedsheets. Green-clad German Wehrmacht soldiers, in groups of three to 20, marched unguarded on their way to rear prison stockades, dutifully lifting their hands at the approach of any Americans.

Shops were shuttered and locked, and the streets were cluttered with shell-shattered wagons and dead horses. A wall was scrawled with a sign reading in English, "See the Rhine and leave your skulls here" the parting jibe of some Nazi propagandist.

A big modern bridge lay with its spans demolished in the middle of the rapid jade-colored Rhine.

I went to the rathaus (town hall) where a pudgy burgomeister and his subdued council importuned Tessier to let citizens clean up the streets, a two-language conversation in which Tessier delivered orders in French to a slave laborer, who transmitted them in German to the wagging of heads.

POLICE SURLY

"From 10 in the morning till four in the afternoon," ordered Tessier. "Other times, everybody indoors."

Three uniformed and much-braided German policemen tried to warp their surly faces into unaccustomed smiles and pretend to retain an appearance of authority. A doughfoot stripped them of their Luger pistols and prodded them protestingly along the route to prison bull pens, while watching German civilians looked pleased.

"They say," interpreted the Frenchman, "they are not in the army; they must stay here to preserve order."

"To hell with them," said Tessier, "jug them with the rest. We'll take care of keeping order."

A well-fed, prosperously fat trio of business men from the local preserve works came to vouchsafe that 30 per cent of their factory belonged to American Can Co., and therefore deserved protection as United States property.

"Who owns the other 70 per cent?" asked Tessier.

"Germans," admitted the English-speaking delegation.

"Okay," said Tessier, "protest to Hitler."

A butcher shop still functioned with a fair stock of meats. A crowd of hausfraus was buying portions with reichsmarks, dutifully tearing out brown ration coupons from books much like those in Boston. Ingrained Teuton methods caused them to follow the no longer existent rules of the Reich though their money and coupons had lost their intrinsic value.

Bewilderment reigned when I peeled a 50 mark note from a wad of Nazi money and paid for small hunk of sausage. Fifty marks is about 10 dollars value, but wot t'ell, I'd found the bank roll in a ditch.

WHY QUINTUPLETS use this great rub for SORE THROAT COUGHS due to COLDS

Wonderful for Grown-Ups, Too!

Ever since they were tiny tots—whenever the Quintuplets catch cold—their chests, throats and backs are immediately rubbed with Musterole.

Musterole gives such blessed prompt relief because it's more than just an ordinary "salve." It's what so many Doctors and Nurses call a modern counter-irritant. It not only relieves coughs, sore throat, aching chest muscles due to colds, makes breathing easier—but it actually helps break up congestion in upper bronchial tract, nose and throat.

And Musterole is so much easier to apply than a mustard plaster. White, Stainless. Just rub it on! "No fuss. No muss with Musterole!"

IN 3 STRENGTHS: Children's Mild Musterole, Regular, and Extra Strong.

Olive Tablets pop up sluggish bile flow. They stimulate BOTH upper and lower bowels and provide satisfactory, comfortable and more natural-like bowel movements. No griping or weakening effects, just complete satisfaction.

RESTORE 2-TERM TRADITION

THE OREGON State Legislature, by means of a resolution approved by both of its houses, has proposed to the Congress of the United States that a constitutional amendment limiting the Presidential tenure to two four-year terms be passed and offered to the States for ratification.

This is, of course, an old issue in American politics.

Many times one or the other of the two houses of Congress have favorably considered such an amendment, but not at the same time.

Consequently, there has never been an occasion or opportunity for ratification by the States, although ratification would have been accorded virtually without dissent.

The reason for inaction upon the matter and for indifference to it throughout most of the history of the country was that almost all of the American people relied upon the two-term tradition, and almost none of them believed it could ever be successfully challenged.

But of course it was challenged by Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and broken.

THERE IS no purpose now in discussing the right or the wrong of Mr. Roosevelt's third and fourth terms, in the light of the long observed but finally broken American tradition, for what he succeeded in doing was done with the consent of the majority of the American people, and was done without violation of the letter of American law—although the violence done to the spirit of American law was substantial.

There is an important purpose to be served, however, by discussion of the right or the wrong of FUTURE Presidential terms extended beyond the traditional limit of eight years.

Mr. Roosevelt is not concerned in that, insofar as his third and fourth terms affect the issue—since they are matters of accomplished fact.

He will be concerned if he seeks a fifth term, or a sixth or a seventh ad infinitum, but that is a question to be raised in its own time.

The essential point is that, for whatever reasons good or bad that Mr. Roosevelt broke the two-term tradition, the vital national interest was well served by the limitation on Presidential tenure in the past, and will be better served by it in the future.

Mr. Roosevelt himself made that point on at least one conspicuous occasion.

On that occasion, in asking Congress for certain new and unprecedented powers, Mr. Roosevelt frankly acknowledged that many of the powers he sought and much of the power he already had—but that no President before him had ever had—would be unwise and UNSAFE in the hands of any other man.

The grant of tenure beyond the limit of honored and safe American tradition and experience was unquestionably the most OMINOUS of all his vast and unprecedented powers.

Let us agree, however reluctantly, that the prolonged tenure granted to Mr. Roosevelt had an understandable explanation, if not a warrant, in the emergencies of the times—the imminence of war in 1940, the fact of war in 1944.

MR. ROOSEVELT has his place in American history as the only President having a grant of power beyond the traditional two terms, and has it securely—and will be judged by it.

The American people should do now what the founding fathers of America contemplated doing, but failed to do because they thought it unnecessary.

The resolution of the Oregon Legislature should be heeded by Congress, and a constitutional amendment re-establishing the historic American two-term tradition should be passed by Congress and offered to the American people for their assured ratification.

When I saw my new born child
On it's mother's arms.
And hanging at her bosom,
She the while bent o'er its features
With a smile,
Then I was thrilled and most warm
Impressed a father's kiss.
So for the mother's sake
The child was dear
And dearer was the mother
For the child.

COLERIDGE wrote the above in answer to Charles Lamb who had asked him how he felt the first time he saw his first born child . . . They are becoming bored with "Oomph Girl" entertainers who strut about the stage in scanty attire boldly exposing their alleged charms and singing and dancing in suggestive manner. That is what a number of men in the armed forces of the Pacific area have written this department. One letter is from 85 survivors of a U. S. warship sunk in the second battle of the Philippines. The lads say they would like to see some good plays such as "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," which Katharine Cornell and Brian Aherne did on the European fronts.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Marty Loughman of Nogales, Ariz., sends me a clipping of an advertisment of a store a step over the Mexican border from his town. The ad says: "Cigarets! Only one carton per customer" . . . A New Englander claims to have worn the same pants for 45 years. The firm that made these durable trousers has gone out of business. There is food for thought there. I knew a man who made men's hats that lasted 15 years and more. He, too, has gone out of business . . . Add members M. N. I. A. P. QUALITY AND QUANTITY: "The biggest hot dog in town. Ten cents." Such is a sign recently seen. The oversized frankfurter referred to in this seemingly handsome offer may be a bargain. Then, again, it may not. It is the kids who go for bargains like that. Unfortunately some of the things, being made from cheaper materials, are hard on juvenile stomachs. It would be wonderful if kids could be taught the value of quality as compared with quantity.

BREAKFAST: Average co-ed breakfast is a cup of coffee and a cigaret. Heaviest co-ed eaters are at the University of California. They usually have a doughnut, coffee and a cigaret for breakfast. Heaviest eaters among feminine workers are coffee shop cashiers. They don't really care so much for the food but can't resist eating plenty because they don't have to pay for it.

COLOR PSYCHOLOGY: "The color expert who suggested a young woman occasionally wear a yellow dress to the office had something," writes a Brooklynite. "Recently I wore a bright yellow dress to business. It seemed to brighten the place considerably. Also, in addition to a number of compliments, I got quite a few wolf whistles from otherwise respectable married men. It was quite a lift to my sagging morale."

PLEASE NOTE: Katherine Dunham plans to do a play based on some ideas of her own. She expects to engage five writers to put her ideas in the form of a play. This recalls the time Mae West engaged three male writers to do a scenario of an idea she had for a film. "How do you like the way the writers adapted your story?" Mae was asked after she had read the completed script. Said Miss West indignantly: "Why, they have taken all the charm out of it."

CO-OPERATION: When requested to close down, the race tracks did so with "a minimum of complaint." That's what Director Byrnes now says in expressing gratification at the co-operation given him by the turf people. It may be that in so wording his statement Mr. Byrnes had in mind the maximum of complaint voiced by the night club maestros when asked to only partly close down. The after-dark spot magnates certainly did a lot of whining, whimpering and wailing.

PLEASE NOTE: "Meet Me in St. Louis" is an entertaining film but Judy Garland in portraying an old-fashioned girl combines a Hollywood and Vine accent with the manners of a modern band canary. She also features one of those massive bunches of hair so many cinema cuties of today wear hanging down their backs. I don't know the technical name of this type of hair-do, but have a box of stogies to bet the girls weren't wearing it when people were singing "Meet Me in St. Louis, Louie."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

GEN. CHARLES DE GAULLE,
La Belle France.
Mon cher General:

YOU AND your people seem to think your troubles should come first with us, but let me tell you something.

Westbrook Pegler

The party is over and France is off the cuff, and the best thing you can do for yourselves is pull down that trained thumb of yours and quit standing by the road always waiting for a hitch.

We have an awful lot of our own people, maybe more than a million, living in trailers, on parking lots, and I wouldn't even try to guess how many others living in shacks and barracks who are likely to pick up a row if we don't pull up our socks and somehow slap together some fairly habitable houses when this war is over.

It is so confused that we don't exactly know ourselves where they all came from or how far from their old homes they find themselves today.

You might say that a lot of them haven't had their stakes down for years and can't really call any place home, except just where they happen to be.

Living in a trailer is like being a turtle. You tote your home along with you, and when it began people thought it was kind of cute, but that was just for a short vacation and it is a very different thing for steady.

Even two people in one of those things get in each other's way and on each other's nerves, but when there is a child or two it is just awful. You know, no privacy, no sitting room, no bathroom, no room.

TO HEAR you people, a fellow would think we didn't have a care in the world. You would think that if a fellow just had the money in this country he could walk in and buy whatever he wants for himself.

Why, nowadays, you walk into a store and you see rows of empty shelves and all they can give you mostly is the nopes. Any cigarets? Nope. Sugar? Nope. Can you sell me a baseball for my kid? Nope. Steak? Nope. Bacon? Nope. Chewing gum? Nope. Babies' underwear? Nope. Black pepper? Nope. Sheets? Well, maybe next week.

That wonderful standard of living that we used to boast so much about is way down around the Bulgarian level, if you ask me, and those cars that the American workman used to rattle around in so regardless, with a new one every year or two, are now, anyschere from three to ten or 12 years old and most of them are five years on the road.

And the gas is closely rationed and lots of times even if you have the coupons and the money the guy just gives you the same old nope because he can't get any himself.

THIS HAS been a very tough winter, too, General. Right in the midst of it comes up a fuel shortage, maybe not so bad as yours, but pretty bad and things might not have been as bad if you people had scuffled a little harder.

Anyway, be that as it may, we have got our OWN HEADACHES and when there is a little more of anything we are going to have plenty of takers RIGHT HERE AMONG OURSELVES.

YOU PEOPLE better make your plans to get to work and take care of your own needs and not count on us for much.

The way it looks around here we will have a market for all those millions of cars and washing machines and refrigerators within our own borders for years and years.

OUR PEOPLE COME FIRST AND FRANKLY YOURS HAVEN'T EXACTLY OVERWHELMED US WITH GRATITUDE FOR PAST FAVORS.

Would you care to discuss trading Martinique to us to get that burr out from beneath our shirt so that if France should go Bolshevik we wouldn't have to keep covered with warships and planes, as we did after 1940?

Well, then maybe the USA will have to do as Russia did about protecting her western frontier and, judging by 1940, that wouldn't be too hard.

Anyway, General, haul down that thumb because we have an awful lot to do for ourselves before we even pull up level with our normal standard of life.

Yours truly,
GEORGE SPELVIN, American.

Hollywood Today

HOLLYWOOD, March 12—Right out of New York this morning comes Maj. Arthur Loew's statement that M-G-M is taking one of the most important steps in international film history.

For the first time, an American film and distributing company is releasing two of the biggest films ever made in Mexico. Dolores Del Rio's "Maria Candelaria" and "El Penon de Las Animas," co-starring the Mexican favorites, Maria Felix and Jorge Negrete.

Dolores Del Rio

This means the very good pictures made in Mexico will receive the world-wide distribution facilities of M-G-M—and don't think for a minute they won't be important competition in the open market.

I think this is an occasion for a little hat doffing in the direction of M-G-M, for it represents the much talked, and not always practiced, "good-neighbor" policy to the fullest.

BILL EYTHE and Lloyd Nolan are going to be the envy of every kid who has a yen to be a G-man. Late this week Bill and Lloyd take off for the FBI academy at Quantico for two weeks intensive training just like the G-men get and then they return to Hollywood to co-star in the FBI factual feature which Louis de Rochemont is producing, "Now It Can Be Told." The film spills plenty of secrets of the activities of the FBI never before revealed to the public. I also hear several of the real FBI men will take part, but this I doubt. Uncle Sam has never been willing to reveal the identity of the top federal agents for reasons which are obvious.

The life of Adria Lock Langley, the lady riveter who lives over a garage, has become very exciting. She recently sold her first book, "A Lion in the Streets," to a current magazine, and now James Cagney has bought it for his next picture, but what makes it especially interesting is Jimmy paid $250,000 for it, the largest amount ever given for a book with the exception of A. J. Cronin's "Green Years."

The Cagney contingent, including brother Bill, producer, denies that "A Lion in the Streets" is the late Senator Hughie Long's life story, as has been reported.

BING CROSBY had a very narrow escape returning this week from an Army camp tour, when the plane in which he was a passenger made a crash landing in Arizona. There was only enough gas left for five minutes' flying time and the plane smashed a landing gear coming in. The ironic angle of this is that after Knute Rockne's fatal plane crash, Bing promised himself he would never fly again, and this is about the only time he violated that promise. I don't believe you'll ever get him in a plane again.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The news Brenda Marshall has heard from her father, Otto Ankerson, 70 years old, is not too comforting. He has been rescued from Jap imprisonment after three years spent in Santo Tomas, but according to word received he is in such bad state because of malnutrition he has to stay in a Philippine hospital until he gets some of his strength back. Brenda has been frankly afraid he would not recover sufficiently to ever reach the United States, but after weeks of worry she is grateful he has been rescued by Gen. MacArthur's men.

WHAT'S THIS I hear about Paramount reviving "Death Takes a Holiday"? Well, I can understand why, because this was one of the best pictures Freddie March ever made during his hey-day and now I hear Ray Milland will play the March role. There was a time when people thought there was a hex on remakes of former hits, but if you'll pardon me, I think my child's modern version of "The Enchanted Cottage" is better than the original.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Jane Wyman has been very sick with virus pneumonia; Mary Elizabeth Hensel is being married on Wednesday, as per schedule, to Maj. William Dodge of San Francisco, so that should take care of the rumor she called off her wedding to wait until Cary Grant is free; nice gesture. I think on Mervyn Le Roy's part to ask Norma Shearer to present the annual Irving Thalberg award; all of our brave Marines on Iwo Jima must have written to Hollywood parents and relatives at the same time. Adela Rogers St. John had a letter from her young brother, Sgt. Bryson Rogers of the 5th Division, telling her he is safe; had a wonderful time at Minna Wallis' cocktail party for Gloria Swanson and Bill Davey. The Warner Bixters were there and I hadn't seen Warner and Winnie in months. Benita and Ronald Colman, just back from Santa Barbara, had to tell all about their daughter, who Ronnie swears, is now talking. Norma Shearer, in a bright green sport suit, was the center of attraction. She looks so pretty these days. Colleen Moore and her husband, Homer Hargraves, brought their soldier son. Bob and Natalie Hutton, as happy as can be, were at Minna's telling their friends they never had any idea of a divorce; Com. Eddie Peabody, who played the banjo in peace times, is back in Hollywood on leave; Juanita Stark, who left Warners when she married George Gibson, has had word he is missing in action; Bogey and Baby (Bacall) a twosome with the Mark Hellinger's; Billy Wilkerson is out, but with his hand in splints, following an automobile accident. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

HOLLYWOOD, March 12—Olivia de Havilland always is a good person to visit on a set when she is making a picture, and she is now doing "The Well Groomed Bride." She doesn't appear to take the job seriously, and will tell stories, or amuse the cast by drawing caricatures of them, or startle those, who aren't wise to her trick, by barking like a dog.

Olivia de Havilland

Yet she works hard at her task and is completely prepared for her assignment. She knows her lines, has her own conception of the character she is portraying, and will fight to have her way if she is thoroughly convinced she is correct.

She has taken suspensions, fought for better parts, and says she will always fight for better roles. She recently won a lawsuit about her contract, which, if it continues to be upheld by the courts, will change the meaning of every player's contract.

Therefore people are puzzled by her. They don't expect this from such a sweet looking girl.

Olivia's name is deceiving also. It sounds fancy and made up for pictures. It is her real name and can be traced back to Sir Peter de Havilland, a supporter of Cromwell against Charles I. She also is a cousin of the manufacturer of the de Havilland bombing planes.

She was born in Tokyo, Japan, on Oct. 22, 1917. She came to America when she was three. She was educated at Saratoga, Cal., Notre Dame Convent; Los Gatos Union High School, and won a scholarship to Mills College, but gave it up in favor of a movie career.

She is five feet three inches tall and weighs 117 pounds. She has brown eyes and mouse-colored hair. She writes sentimental poetry, but won't let anyone see it. Her nickname is Livvy.

She saves all her love letters, theater programs, and remembers vividly the first time she was kissed. She'll tell you that after this kiss she ran home, sat on her bed in a daze, and kept repeating, "I've been kissed. I've been kissed." She liked it, and still does.

She always is late to dates and appointments. She considers punctuality a very important attribute, but somehow she never can get ready on time. When a man takes her out on a date, she likes to return the engagement by inviting him out.

WASHINGTON, March 12—I was trying to put myself to sleep the other night counting Congressmen jumping on each other when the phone shrilled. It was our Mrs. Janet Green calling from Mexico City.

I was unable to talk to Mrs. Green, however, because I was full of sulfa drugs. They had been funneled into me by a passing physician when I opened my mouth to ask if he thought Stalin would attend the San Francisco conference.

I do not know if you spend much time under the influence of sulfa drugs. They have miraculous powers but they do not exactly leave you on the qui vive, which is a French expression meaning to look at risque postcards.

Sulfa drugs leave you woozy in mind and body, but principally mind. The feeling is a little hard to explain. I tried to tell the little woman that my mind seemed all muddled and she exclaimed:

"Well, I declare! It just shows the things that can happen under a Democratic administration, doesn't it?"

WHAT I AM getting at, I guess, is that I am none too unclouded yet. And my eminent medico, Dr. Lawrence Jacklin of Falls Church, Va., seems dubious about the future. Shaking his head, he said:

"The drug will wear off in time—and your mind will be just like it was before. We must not expect too much from it!"

THE FUNNY THING about this bug—it was tonsilitis although the little woman swears it would have been less trying all around if it had been rabies—was that it waited until midnight curfew went into effect to bite me.

There is something radically wrong with the whole danged picture. It was the first time I had been sick in 20 years—during which I prowled into the dawning. But the minute I had to go home at midnight—Wham!

Do you wonder now why I was so concerned about the curfew? Going to sleep at night obviously ain't healthy!

I DO NOT know how other people tell when they are getting well but I have an infallible guide. I know I am definitely on the mend when the little woman says:

"You're as well able to get it as I am!"

THERE ARE a lot of things I wish I hadn't missed, such as the fistfight between Representatives Hook and Rankin, but, on the other hand I was able to skip the swearing in of Henry Wallace. In my weakened condition I just couldn't stand the spectacle of Henry back nuzzling at the public feed trough.

J'ever stop to think what the Senate really said to Henry when it divorced him from the lending agencies?—

"You're all right to be Secretary of Commerce—as long as you don't have the handling of money!"

BUT, LET US return to Mrs. Green and her call from Mexico City. It was too bad I couldn't talk to her because she was loaded with news. It seems Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius had just embarrassed himself terribly!

Mrs. Green as she told me in a subsequent call—had come from a session of the Inter-American Conference. One of the Latin delegates had commented on the lack of hemisphere solidarity by making a long speech extolling virtues Americans.

He said nice things about George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and even Abraham Lincoln. The audience applauded heartily.

The speaker, who was delivering all of this in Spanish, then got down to modern times and began praising Cordell Hull. At the bouquets for his predecessor, Stettinius—who was getting a quick translation cheered and clapped.

The speaker continued to talk and Stettinius continued to cheer. He was applauding mightily when Nelson Rockefeller suddenly grabbed his hands.

"Stop clapping!" hissed Rockefeller. "The fellow is now eulogizing you!"

MRS. GREEN reports the handsome Stettinius has made a terrific hit with the Mexicans. They like his toothpaste-ad smile, she says, and have affectionately nicknamed him "El Diente."

I do not think I would appreciate any such nickname. So far as I can make out, it means "The Teeth."

OUR NEW Ambassador to Brazil, Milton Berle, told Mrs. Green the American embassy in Rio de Janeiro is so big and lavish "it makes me feel like I'm a janitor in a country club."

Mr. Berle, who was seldom if ever mistaken for a janitor when he was in Washington, added:

"Why, it is even bigger than the White House!"

WELL, if I ain't the one for making mistakes. It seems Mr. Berle's first name isn't Milton. It's Adolf.

Wonder what I could have been thinking of . . . ?

Besides, we would all be better off physically and mentally if there were not so much drinking and all night carousing—and be satisfied to go home at 12 and go to bed.

DEAR MISS KILGALLEN:

As a partial solution to the night club, etc., closing order, can't they try to work it out on a schedule basis? That is, have night clubs open from 10 to 2 and hotels from 6 to 12, rather than force them all to close at 12. This would give the visiting servicemen and shift workers a break. Surprise Wedding

BARBARA EDSON HOWE of Newton and Capt. Bernard Anthony Walker, USA, of Belleville, Ill., gave their friends an exciting surprise Saturday afternoon by turning the large party that was intended as their engagement tea into a wedding reception.

Due to a change in Capt. Walker's orders the couple decided to be married quietly just before the party and then break the news to their friends. The reception was at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Edson Howe.

The bride, who attended Choate School and graduated from Erskine, wore a navy blue and white sheer suit with a white feather coronet and white orchids. Mrs. Howe also received in navy and white. Capt Walker, son of Mrs. William Frank Walker of Belleville, and the late Mr. Walker, attended Texas and St. Louis Universities. He is stationed in Chicago where they will honeymoon.

Fashion

SWEET, SIMPLE AND GIRLISH is this elegant but casual cape dress. The suspender skirt of this attractive spring outfit has a slim, high-waisted effect . . . and is flattered by the free and easy cape . . . so typical of Maurice Rentner's designing. Confetti print makes the long-sleeved blouse and also lines the button-on cape. The streamered beret is perfect as a topper for the swinging grace of the dress.

Looks, Brains the Rule

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

BEAUTY AND BRAINS are no longer a surprising combination. In fact, today, they are rather the rule than the exception. It's as much a part of a career woman's job to be attractive as to be efficient . . . and her rating for success at her job . . . whether as a secretary, saleswoman, or top executive . . . has a way of dropping a peg or two when she lets "her public" see her with a shiny nose or the look of being anything short of perfectly groomed.

The receptionist in a big shot's office . . . or the file clerk who wants her boss to see her looking tops . . . just like any successful career woman whose photogenic countenance is always in the news . . . has to be looking her best at all times.

Without question, that accounts for the great popularity of the all-day foundation . . . and why the great cosmetic companies have taken such pains to perfect makeup foundation that goes on smoothly and quickly . . . and doesn't disappear for however many hours a gal has to go without a retouch job.

A new liquid cream makeup which literally is a petal-tint . . . because it leaves the complexion as smooth as a gardenia petal . . . and without the oily recurrence so many women object to, is one of the best we've tried. The skin seems to take this creamy liquid up as it becomes glowy for the acceptance of the dulling finish of powder . . . and the complexion emerges with amazing softness and smoothness.

Any one of the six flattering shades will add a true color to your skin . . . or lighten or darken it as you may desire. Incidentally, starting today and for two weeks . . . the creators of this exquisite petal facial tint . . . are including a box of chiffon-textured face powder with every purchase . . . a $2.50 beauty bargain for only $1.50. We don't often talk price . . . since beauty is priceless . . . and whatever a girl spends on making her complexion lovelier is money well invested . . .

For the name of this new liquid cream foundation and face powder bargain, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHAT GOOD is the moonlight to a girl if she can't enjoy a bit of the stardust? And what good are stunning clothes . . . if a gal's complexion isn't all that it should be . . . and if facially she lacks the necessary oomph to give her that dramatic distinction of feminine loveliness . . . so easily achieved today with a new liquid cream foundation that turns a complexion into the smoothness of a gardenia petal. Warner Star Janis Paige poses.

Hearty Main Egg Dishes

By MARTHA LEE

EGG PRICES ARE on the downward path, so take note of all the hearty main dishes that can be made with eggs. Creamed eggs perhaps—think of all the glamour you can add with the extras you serve with them. The creamed sauce may have minced parsley or water cress added or a bit of grated cheese; or what about a few sauteed mushrooms?

SCRAMBLED EGGS

6 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup milk or thin cream
¾ tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. butter or margarine

Combine slightly beaten eggs, milk or cream, and seasonings. Melt butter in heavy frying pan. Pour in egg mixture and cook over low heat. As eggs become firm, scrape from bottom of pan. Continue to do this until eggs are thick and creamy. Serve at once on toast or with sausage or bacon. Makes 6 servings.

Creamed eggs may also be served with a variety of extras when baked in a casserole. For instance, with mushrooms and shrimp. Grease a large casserole. Break 6 eggs carefully into the dish. Fill spaces between with ½ lb. cooked or canned shrimp. Cook mushrooms, sliced in 3 tbsp. fat. Blend in 3½ tbsp. flour and 3 cups milk and a large piece of lemon peel. Cook until sauce thickens slightly, stirring constantly. Remove peel. Add 1 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, ½ tsp. marjoram. Pour over eggs and sprinkle with 2 tbsp. grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 15 minutes.

Fluffy vegetable souffles add variety; and while eggs are used to make them they may also be served with hard-boiled eggs for garnish or an accompanying salad. Potato souffle is particularly good when well-seasoned and served puffy and golden brown.

POTATO SOUFFLE

2 tbsp. butter or margarine
⅓ cup hot milk
3 cups hot mashed potato
¼ cup minced onion
2 tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper
3 egg yolks 3 egg whites

Melt margarine, combine with milk, mashed potato, onion and seasonings; whip together until smooth and fluffy. Beat egg yolks and add to potato mixture, whipping until well blended. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold carefully into potato mixture. Bake in buttered casserole or in individual casseroles, in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 45 to 50 minutes, when it will be puffy and brown.

Ultra special are cream puffs filled with creamed chicken. Light, crisp, and tender, they are delicious to look at as well as eat. Serve with green peas and crisp relishes, and top off with home-made ice cream and cake.

CREAMED CHICKEN

2 cups medium white sauce
2 cups diced cooked chicken
Cream puffs or hot buttered toast
Paprika or minced parsley

Prepare white sauce with rich milk, substituting 1 cup chicken stock for 1 cup milk; add chicken, diced or cut in strips, and heat thoroughly. Serve on toast and sprinkle lightly with paprika or parsley. Makes 6 servings.

2 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. flour
1 cup rich milk or light cream
½ tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper

Melt butter and stir in flour; gradually stir in milk and stir until mixture boils and thickens, then cook about 3 minutes longer, stirring occasionally; add seasonings. Place over hot water to keep hot and cover tightly to prevent crust from forming on top. Makes 1 cup sauce.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday—On Thursday afternoon Dr. and Mrs. Syngman Rhee of Korea came to see me and brought me two of Dr. Rhee's books, one of them a pamphlet on Korea.

I had never met Dr. Rhee before, but a very beautiful spirit shines in his face, and the patience which one feels his countrymen must have exercised through the past many years is present in the gentleness of his expression.

Some day I hope that Korea can live again in peace and security in a world where such conditions are possible to small nations as well as large ones.

FRIDAY MORNING I had the pleasure of seeing Miss Loula Dunn, commissioner of welfare in Alabama, who is just leaving to visit Great Britain as one of the OWI speakers. I think Great Britain is making a very great effort to bring about more knowledge of the United States and our people among her citizens.

I recently had an opportunity to look over some of the courses conducted in the different grades in various English schools, together with some compositions written by several youngsters on the United States which I thought were very interesting.

We would need to revise some of our textbooks to do anything similar here, but I think it might be valuable for us to bring our thinking on Great Britain more up to date. We allow so many of our youngsters to focus primarily on the Revolutionary period and the war of 1812.

Much of the suspicion and antagonism which some of our citizens feel toward Great Britain grows out of the fact that we do not bring our teaching up to date.

On Friday afternoon the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, arrived to visit us. We had a very pleasant, quiet dinner, after which the President took the prime minister off to converse on important matters.

I SPENT SATURDAY in Philadelphia, leaving Washington by the 7 a. m. train and getting home in time for dinner. I reached Philadelphia in time to hear Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas make the opening speech at the conference held under auspices of the University Club of Philadelphia.

The over-all subject was "A Program for Women Today." The morning was taken up with a variety of forums, some of which I attended, and after speaking at the luncheon I came back to Washington.

This morning I am receiving four Canadian WRENS, who are coming to see the White House. One of them lives at Grand Manan Island out in the Bay of Fundy, beyond the Island of Campobello, where we have had a cottage for so many years.

Fine on Cool Spring Days

By BETTINA BEDWELL

RIGHT NOW, when some extra warmth is an urgent need when you step out in your new spring suit, the ensemble that has a cape and a suit for its composition is both chic and very practical. There are loads of capes to be had, and most of them are made so they can be bought to go with a suit or a dress, though they are sold separately.

The warmest capes are those that are about three-quarter length, and they can be worn over dresses as well as the suit they go with in early spring.

Here a black-and-white hairline striped John Walther woolen suit is paired with a black cape that has a stole of the striped wool around its closing.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

If there's anything that yers trooly gits a really big kick out of, it's havin' the boys come back from years in the service and stop in to say hello to old-timer Izzy Ort. Last week, who drops in but a boy who a while back sent me a German helmet and other souvenirs of his two and a half years on the world's battlefront, Sergeant Chick Lechtenberg. Chick got a double bang out of it, too, coz who duz he run into right here in me Grille but an old buddy from his company in Germany, a boy who he hadn't seen since last November, Arthur Wilson, from Jamaica Plain. It wuz one swell reunion . . . A few days later in pops another old pal who I used to call the "Rebel", 1st Lieutenant Jack Winstead, jess back from over there, where he engaged in 57 combat missions and won himself three Presidential citations! And wuz he glad to git back in good old U.S.A.! . . . I could mention a dozen more who dropped in jess last week . . . boy, how I love to have those boys come in to see me. It's a real treat to have one of our fightin' men call me "old timer"! . . . When the strain of that war job starts draggin' you down, and war nerves start makin' you jittery, jess come to Ort's popular Grille or swank El Tropico Room, where the best in music and entertainment will relax you

WILBUR—"A PLACE OF OUR OWN," a new play written and directed by Elliott Nugent, opens a two-week engagement tonight with Robert Keith, Jeanne Cagney, J. C. Nugent, Wendell Corey and Mercedes McCambridge heading cast. This is the story of a smalltown family in 1919 whose ideas, convictions and conversion forcast today's happenings and thinking. Nugent is also the co-producer with Hollywood's Robert Montgomery and Broadway's John Golden.

SHUBERT—"THE TWO MRS. CARROLLS," the Broadway and London hit by Martin Vale (Mrs. Bayard Veiller) starring Elisabeth Bergner, brings the Continental stage and screen star here in her local footlights debut. This thriller is said to offer Miss Bergner an acting field day. Two weeks.

Continuing

Mell Choice to Win Over Zullo at Arena Tonight

By JACK CONWAY

GUS MELL of Montreal, with 32 straight ring victories to his credit, should make it 33 wins in a row when he battles Jerry Zullo of Chelsea in a 10-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Arena tonight. Five of Mell's triumphs have been scored in Boston rings. Last week at the Arena he decisively outscored Benny Singleton, New England's lightweight champion. Previously he outpointed Vince Dell Orto and Oscar St. Pierre and knocked out Sammy Garcia and Jerry Darby.

Mell has a brilliant left hand. In the Singleton bout, the 19-year-old Canadian jabbed and hooked perfectly with his left. He also punches fast and true with his right.

Gus Mell

Mell's weakness, as is true of most young boxers, is at infighting. He loafs and fails to take advantage of openings when at close quarters. Time and experience will correct this fault.

Zullo was a star when in the amateurs. He won most of his bouts as a result of his heavy punching. The same asset has been helpful to Zullo in the ranks of the professionals. Zullo has not gone as far in professional boxing as it appeared he would when he first left the amateurs.

Zullo will receive his opportunity to shoot for the fistic skies when he clashes with Mell tonight. If the Chelsea thumper, on the short end of 10 to 3 betting, can upset the dope, he will be in line for attractive matches.

The Mell management has used good sense in not over-matching the young Canadian. The scarcity of boxing talent often causes managers of comparatively inexperienced boxers to accept important bouts before the youngsters under their direction are ready for the tests.

Davis Replaces Moore

COCKY DAVIS of Worcester has replaced Young Tommy Moore against Rocky Projano. The latter has done some successful boxing in New York rings. He boxed a draw with Davis in Worcester and they are expected to produce a lively scrap.

In the six-round bouts, Mickey Paul of the North End will collide with Young "Tiger" Flowers of Worcester, Johnny Mann of South Boston will take on Mickey Welch of Boston, while Sammy Garcia of Quincy will toss blows at Eli Santillo of Worcester.

THE BROWN BOMBER will be back in action at a Callahan A. C. show at Mechanics Building on Friday night with Jimmy Mulligan of Lowell as an opponent. The Brown Bomber, on the short end of the betting, furnished a fistic surprise at the last Callahan A. C. show when he scored a one round kayo over Coolidge Miller. The latter had fought Bert Lytell and other headliners and he was expected to win. The Brown Bomber came roaring out of his corner, landed the sleep wallop and called it an evening in 49 seconds.

A few nights later Miller pulled an upset of his own when he chilled Mulligan in a round at White Plains, N. Y. Jimmy does not believe in offering excuses, but it is known he was ill with a cold when he entered the ring against Miller.

The Brown Bomber and Mulligan are wide-open punchers, and almost anything can happen when they meet.

Reddy Evans, who kayoed Pordena Smith, will have Willie Scott of Philadelphia as his rival in another ten-round bout. In addition to defeating Smith, Evans has wins to his credit in local rings over Bobby Giles and Tiger Lou Jones.

Scott won a decision over Al Finazzo at the last Callahan A. C. show.

Bennett New Bruin Ace

By BILL GRIMES

Before he went out to tend goal for the Olympics at the Arena Saturday night, Harvey Bennett was informed by Win Green that Manager Art Ross had decided to use him against the Blackhawks last night in the Garden. However, the Bruins' office didn't mention anything about Bennett coming up. It stated that Jack Crawford, despite a painful hip injury, will be back at his defense berth and that Murray Henderson, who has been trying to get into form by playing with the Pics, would pair up with Dit Clapper.

Until Manager Ross arrived in the Bruins' dressing room last night, Jack Shewchuk and Henderson were standing around in their civies. The other players were practically dressed for action when Henderson was informed that he would replace Shewchuk.

But be that as it may, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Crawford and Mr. Henderson all played important roles in the Bruins' 7 to 2 victory over the Hawks.

Judging from the article of hockey played by Bennett, Crawford and Henderson, the Bruins could have blown that four-point game if the trio had not been in the lineup.

The Bruins and Hawks were tied at 31 points going into last night's game. The possession of fourth place hinged on the outcome. It was a crucial game, if there ever was one.

But now the Rossmen can drop Thursday's game in Chicago and still have a better chance than the Hawks of making the Stanley Cup play-off series. They still have a tomorrow night.

True, they've lost 15 straight games to the Detroiters. But it's a long road that has no road house. They might find one tomorrow, despite the fact that the "boys" will have Jack Adams' boys heavy favorites in their pre-game quotations.

Although the fans appreciated the goals scored by Bill Cowley and especially Pat Egan and the tallies contributed by Herbie Cain, Armand Gaudreault and Paul Gladu, they didn't pass up any opportunity to cheer Harvey Bennett last night.

Along about Christmas, Bennett was sent down to the Olympics to make room for Paul Bibeault, who was obtained on a lend-lease plan or something from Canadiens. In view of the fact that he had jumped from junior amateur hockey to the Bruins, Bennett didn't do a bad job.

His most glaring weakness was carelessness. When the puck was up the ice or even in the center zone, Bennett had a habit of relaxing. He gave the impression that it wasn't necessary for him to concentrate on his job of kicking out pucks when the play was outside the attacking zone. And, as a result, he was beaten on a number of long shots.

Upon the arrival of Bibeault, Bennett was turned over to the Pics. Naturally he resented the demotion. And he declared himself by predicting he'd be back. He filled in for the ailing Bibeault about the middle of last month and turned in a win, but before the end of that week he was back with the Olympics.

The Bruins have been standing practically still since they beat the Rangers here the 17th of February. All they had to show for seven games was a tie with the Rangers.

So, last night, Manager Ross turned over his hole card. It was an "ace," Harvey Bennett. Prior to last night, Bennett had beaten the Hawks four times in as many starts.

Uncle Arthur has been getting more and more jittery as the Bruins' surplus of points over Chicago petered out. He had to gamble on a 19-year-old kid, with a background of only 22 N. H. L. games. He took the gamble and won a four-point game and probably a place in the Stanley Cup series.

After the victory, Manager Ross hinted that he might make a change in the Boston lineup for tomorrow's game with the Red Wings. But, he refused to give out any advance information on what he has in mind.

Judging from his comments, Manager Ross has a hunch his Bruins will snap Detroit's winning streak. However, it's safe to predict that when the Rossmen line up against the Hawks Thursday night in Chicago, Bennett will be in the nets, gunning for his sixth straight win over the aggregation from the Windy City, which was a pretty cocky crowd before last night's contest.

THE LOSER

Despite many alleged infallible systems, nobody can consistently pick the winner. The loser, in many ways, is the man who allows himself to go around with dull, dingy hair and a coat collar laden with loose dandruff scales.

For many years a growing and satisfied clientele of both men and women in all walks of life have brought their hair problems to us.

Pat Egan at Peak Against Hawks

The Bruins were very tired last night but they played out the string and came up with a win. Pat Egan came into his own against the Blackhawks. Not only did Pat score two goals and assist Bill Cowley's first tally, but he played heads-up defensive hockey.

Murray Henderson made his debut as a Bruin. He seemed to tire quickly due in all probability to the fact that he had played with the Olympics on Friday and Saturday nights. However, he proved that he knows his way around, for he came up with some clever plays.

When it was announced that they would be in the Bruin lineup Harvey Bennett and Murray Henderson received an ovation from the capacity crowd.

Lt. Art Ross, of the RCAF, will push off today for Moncton, N. B. He has been home since October, when he was repatriated from France. He has made a remarkable recovery and he is ready to return to active service.

The Toronto Maple Leafs are playing better hockey than they have at any time since the opening of the campaign, when they won six straight. They were in a serious slump from Feb. 6 when they beat the Bruins, 5 to 1, until they knocked off Canadiens a week ago last Saturday. Now, they have won five in a row. If they can hold that form for another fortnight, the Canucks will have trouble getting them out of the Stanley Cup series.

The Rangers were eliminated as contenders for the play-off last night, when the Canadiens fell on them to the tune of 11 to 5. They are three points behind the Bruins with only one more game to play.

The U. S. Navy was well represented in the press box, from where Lt. Mike Holovak, Lt. Jack Riley and Lt. Eddie Doherty watched the game. They are real rabid hockey fans and all probably would have passed out if the Rossmen had taken it on the chin.

Jack Crawford's injured hip gave him trouble in the first period and improved as the game progressed. It was fortunate that Crawford was able to return to the lineup, for "Dit" Clapper is badly in need of a rest.

Manager Art Ross restored Bill Cowley to his old berth between Herbie Cain and Bill Jennings. Cowboy Bill came through with two goals and picked up another assist.

Clapper was wearing a stitch over his eye. Lorne Carr, the Toronto right winger, nicked him Saturday night. GRIMES.

Cowley Ties for 4th In Lady Bing Award

MONTREAL, March 12 (AP)—Polling 95 of a possible 100 points, Bill Mosienko of the Blackhawks won today the Lady Byng Trophy annually awarded to the National Hockey League player for best combining sportsmanship and playing ability.

Clint Smith, also of the Hawks, finished second with 81 points and Syd Howe of Detroit third with 75. Buddy O'Connor of Montreal and Bill Cowley of Boston tied for fourth at 62. Bucko MacDonald of New York was sixth with 48.

Hagg Still Far Below Peak, Says Track Pal

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Haakan Lidman, Stockholm's hurdling sports editor, thinks Swedish track fans would go for indoor track competition, but doubts that Swedish athletes could stand the strain of year-round competition. Lidman, winner of a 60-yard exhibition a week ago, said today that his country has nothing to compare with the indoor track festivals common to this country.

"Such enthusiasm!" said the writer-athlete who has become a Madison Square Garden favorite because of his ballet-like warmup. "I am sure Stockholm crowds would chere as much, however, if they could see such races." But he points out that indoor competition mgiht injure Sweden's domination of the outdoor, middle distance events.

"Gunder Hagg hasn't been able to win here because he is not in condition," he explained. Hagg was last on March 3 and fifth in a six-man field Saturday night in a pair of mile races, both of which were won by James Rafferty. Saturday's winning time was 4:16.3.

"o get I nshape for those eight world records he set, Gunder started skiing in January, concentrated on cross-country running in February and March and tried for speed and form the next three months to be in shape for record exploits in August. I don't see how you can add a winter program to that," he explained.

The gaunt Gunder ambled home in 4:19.1 last weekend. He expects to show even more improvement this Saturday at Chicago and possibly reach his peak at Cleveland on March 23.

School Loop Fans Await Title Play

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Schoolboy basketball fans, all 32,753 of them who sat in on the Eastern Mass. tournament this past week-end, were convinced that they had seen some nifty court battles but they're in for even classier competition this week when Director Henry McCarthy will stage the New England Interscholastic Championships on the same Garden boards.

This three-night carnival—opening Thursday and continuing Friday and Saturday—will write finis to the 1944-45 winter campaign by the schoolboys.

And it won't be the least bit surprising if the newly established record for attendance will be completely shattered, especially if the local representative, Somerville, should continue its winning ways to pile-drive into the final round. It's quite possible, off the form that Coach Vin Cronin's outfit displayed last week, and because this crew is a fully determined tournament team.

Somerville went into this N. E. title play last year with an undefeated record, was propelled into the finals and then lost its only decision of the season to the same classy Waterville, Me., team that will be back in the running this season. The only difference in the Maine outfit will be the fact that now it will move into this play-off series with a record of 67 straight victories.

Waterville qualified by winning the state banner against Portland while Somerville's entry fee was its triumph over a previously unbeaten Haverhill.

Adams High School, winner of the Western and Central eliminations, will be the other Bay State entry. Connecticut will have twin entries in Hillhouse of New Haven and Weaver of Hartford. New Hampshire will send down Manchester Central; Vermont will rest its hopes with Spaulding High of Barre and East Providence will represent Rhode Island. Pairings for the opening round will be announced tomorrow.

All season long Haverhill had been rated as a grand defensive outfit . . . so Somerville went out and broke the Garden tournament scoring record . . . and did you happen to notice how busy Coach Cronin was in the early minutes of the game? . . . playing man to man defense, Somerville didn't cover position for position as is normal but shifted players according to the Essex County Club's strength, on Cronin's advice.

It paid dividends . . . and it found George Hughes, Ken Goodwin, Bob Pugatch, Al Perry, Rudy Antonelli and Ed Colbert hitting their true stride for the only time in the tournament . . . now if Somerville can only catch Waterville in the finals of the New England's everybody will be happy.

Braintree's reserve strength played a big part in its Class B triumph over Belmont . . . with spares like Paul Sweezey it's hard to go wrong . . . the South Shore team just had to win it for grid-der Warren Boynton who's laid up with a football injury . . . young Boynton's father was there to make sure of it.

Quincy High's Boosters Club, with Frank Holland leading the way, will fete the basketball team in spite of its loss to Somerville in the opening round . . . and if you're looking for the individual star of the entire play, you'd need go no further than little Pete Creedon of North Quincy . . . he had it all the way through.

City Road Race On Southie Bill

The City of Boston Official Road Race will be conducted next Saturday as part of the Evacuation Day Exercises in South Boston under the supervision of the Boston Park Department. Entries are open to boys under eighteen residing in Boston.

The first twenty-five boys to finish will receive beautiful trophies donated by Governor Maurice J. Tobin, Mayor John E. Kerrigan, Congressman John McCormack and a host of other public officials. In addition to this valuable perseys appropriately inscribed, have been obtained for the next seventy-five to finish.

All youngsters residing in the city interested in competing in the race are urged to obtain entry blanks at their local gymnasium

Majors Open 4th Wartime Season

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—The major league baseball spring season opened its fourth wartime campaign today on the heels of a proposal from Mayor LaGuardia that police in the big league cities exchange information in an effort to curb garmbling on the sport.

The mayor said he already had talked with Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers, and Horace Stoneman, president of the Giants, and that he expected to see Pres. Ford Frick of the National League today.

Meantime, the championship Browns of the American League, the Indians, Athletics, White Sox, Yankees, Giants and Cardinals were set for their first workouts. The Senators opened last week and the other clubs are scheduled to get going within the next two days.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, who did not accompany the Bronx Bombers to their Atlantic City camp yesterday, summed up the general situation at his Buffalo home, where he remained for several days to settle personal affairs.

"Any manager who tells you he's got a set plan for this season is just plain daft," asserted Marse Joe. "We're all in the same boat because of the manpower situation and what it may develop. The only plan I have is to drift along with the team and let the plans develop."

Costly London Club Names Cotton Pro

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—Golfer Henry Cotton was named pro at the Coombe Hill Golf Club, one of the most expensive in London. He has bought stock in the club and, in addition to giving lessons, will serve as general manager.

"OK NOW"—Cubs pitcher Ed Hanyzewski, center, tells trainer Andy Lotshaw, right, that his arm is alright for 1945 campaign. Manager Charley Grimm, left, looks on and hopes that Hanyzewski's arm, which failed early last year, really is OK again.

Sox Open Work In N. J. Thursday

Weather permitting, the Red Sox will inaugurate the 1945 training season at Pleasantville, N. J., Thursday morning. A few of the Sox players leave her tomorrow with Manager Joe Cronin for Atlantic City where they will be quartered during the training season. The Pleasantville camp is a short trolley ride from the big seashore spot.

And while the Sox roster lists 13 hurlers and two catchers, only two of the group are known to have signed. They are Pitchers Mike Ryba and Rec Cecil.

Infielders and outfielders are scheduled to check in at the beach city next Monday.

Olympics Win Fifth Play-Off

NEW YORK (AP)—The Boston Olympics scored their fifth straight success in the U. S. A. H. A. play-offs when they shaded the New York Rovers, 2 to 1, before 8523 fans at Madison Square Garden yesterday.

Joe Schmidt of the Olympics scored the goal that broke a 1-1 tie at 7:33 of the third period.

Harry Hilliard of the Rovers scored the locals' first and only goal at 1:48 of the first period.

Tommy Brennan, the league's leading scorer, knotted the count at 1-1 with a goal at 10:01 of the second frame.

The game was a tame affair with only five penalties issued.

The Rovers played without the services of Defenseman Lloyd Mohns, who was out of the lineup with a bad back.

N. E. Minus Five For Big Tourney

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Two places still remained unsettled today to complete the lineup of 32 of the country's leading college quintets for four post-season basketball tourneys—the national invitation at Madison Square Garden, the eastern and western NCAA and the national intercollegiate at Kansas City.

Unbeaten Rensselaer Poly became the eighth and last team to fill the Garden invitation lineup, but New England officials still were trying a team to represent district one in the eastern NCAA competition.

"We don't know where we stand," said Chairman Don White of the District Selection Committee. "We have been trying to find a team for four weeks, but most closed their season a month ago while others have lost Navy personnel and are unwilling to play."

One place in the Western NCAA hinges on outcome of a playoff between Washington State and Oregon.

The tournament lineup includes:

National Invitation—St. John's 19-2; Muhlenberg 23-3; Tennessee 18-4; Rhode Island State 19-3; De Paul 18-2; Bowling Green 22-2; West Virginia 12-5, and Rensselaer 13-0.

Eastern NCAA—Kentucky 21-3; Ohio State 14-4; NYU 13-7, and one team still to be picked.

Nelson and McSpaden Capture 4-Ball Final

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Byron Nelson and Harold McSpaden, who finally got the hang of team play and turned into a devastating combination, overwhelmed Sammy Byrd and Denny Shute, 8 and 6, yesterday in the final match of the $7500 International Four Ball Golf Tournament.

299,734 Hoop Fans At N. Y. Garden Bills

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—A total of 299,734 spectators turned out for the 18 college basketball doubleheaders at Madison Square Garden during the regular season. This is an increase of 49,210 over last year.

Yankees Head For Spring Camp

NEW YORK, March 12—The New York Yankees, with 18 announced signers in the fold, also are slated to get off to a flying start when Manager Joe McCarthy calls his first drill at Bader Field at Atlantic City.

Only Larry MacPhail, the new Yankee president, Road Secretary Rex Weyant and a delegation of baseball writers left here by train yesterday morning, as the players have been instructed to report direct to the Atlantic City camp. Manager McCarthy also is heading for the training quarters from his home near Buffalo.

M'PHAIL TO ASSUME CHARGE

For MacPhail the forthcoming training season will mark his debut as Yankee chief. Though venerable Edward G. Barrow continues to run things as the general manager, the next few weeks are certain to see the one-time Dodger major-domo assume more and more of his duties as head man of the show.

For the present, however, the signing of players remains one of Barrow's special tasks. As Cousin Ed has never been known to shirk this duty, it is reasonable to suppose he soon will have most of the outsiders within the fold in jig-time.

Quite a few of the Yanks' top-flight players are holding themselves aloof with no word when they plan to report. Prominent in this group are George Stirnweiss, who as second baseman was the club's top performer last summer; the pitching mainstays, Hank Borowy and Ernie Bonham, and Outfielder Johnny Lindell.

How many of the unsigned players are holding back because of financial reasons or because of uncertainty about their military draft status only the next few weeks can tell.

TODAY'S HONOR ROLL OF CASUALTIES

"While the rivers shall run to ocean, while the shadows shall move in the mountain valleys, while the sky shall feed the stars, always shall thy honour, and thy name, and thy glory abide."—(Virgil)

The War Department today announced the names of 1229 soldiers KILLED IN ACTION in the Asiatic, European, Mediterranean and Pacific ocean areas and 1737 soldiers WOUNDED IN ACTION in the European, Mediterranean and Southwest Pacific areas.
